MESSAGE

Uluberia Institute and Library, a centre of education and culture in the city of Uluberia flourished by JOB CHARNOCK, is one of the region's most prominent heritage structures. This institution played a pioneering role in the establishment of two of Uluberia's most renowned educational institutions, Uluberia College and Binapani Girls' High School.

Throughout the year, it remains bustling with people from various professions and walks of life, making it a vibrant and dynamic place. It preserves the culture of Bengal while paying tribute to great thinkers and showcasing innovative ideas through various endeavours. After renovation, this esteemed institution has taken on a new form, becoming even more vibrant in the realm of education and culture.

Through collective efforts, it continues to thrive as a patron of art and society, maintaining its 125-year-old legacy and reputation.

Abhay Kumar Das.
